

Small Wonders

| By Laurie Kable |

After years of upsizing, watchmakers reverse direction with tiny timepieces that make rich fall fashion statements. Think rose gold cases and dials and straps in shades of camel, tobacco and chocolate.

Little Lady

Piaget downsized its versatile Altiplano to a demure 24mm and made it shimmer with brilliant-cut diamonds and a satin strap. Altiplano 24mm in 18K rose gold with diamonds, $10,000, at Piaget, South Coast Plaza

It's a Wrap!

Hermès' next-generation Kelly 2 recalls the lock on the famous bag and the brand's equestrian heritage with a supple double-wrap calfskin strap. Kelly 2 in stainless steel with Swiss-made quartz movement, $1,775, at Hermès, Beverly Hills.

Seconds to None

At 29mm, Audemars Piguet's Classique Small Seconds exudes Old-World elegance with a small seconds display at 6 o'clock. Classique Small Seconds in 18K pink gold with diamonds, $17,800, by Audemars Piguet at Westime, Beverly Hills.

Satin Doll

Dating back to the 1940s, Cartier's enduring Pasha collection takes a feminine turn with the 27mm Miss Pasha in 18K rose gold paired with a satin strap. Miss Pasha with eight diamond hour markers, $10,850, at Cartier, Beverly Hills.

Heart of Stones

Luminescent mineral dials bring depth and drama to Dior's diminutive La D de Dior collection. La Mini D De Dior with bull's-eye stone dial in 19mm pink gold case set with diamonds, $8,050, by Dior at David Orgell, Beverly Hills.
